THIS IS NOT A BILL

Why did I receive this notice?

We adjusted your Corporate Excise Tax Return for the tax period March 31, 2023. We're required to issue this notice to let you know about the adjustments made. Below is the detail of what was adjusted during the review process. The "adjusted amount" column shows the figures that were adjusted by the Department of Revenue.

Return Adjustment Reasons

- NOL Available has increased.
- NOL Remaining has increased.
- NOL Carryover has increased.

Line Item Adjustments

	Adjusted
5. NOL Available	$6,412.00
8. NOL Remaining	$6,412.00
10. NOL Carryover Available	$6,412.00

What should I do?

Review the changes by comparing the adjustment(s) shown above to your original return.

- If you agree with the adjusted amounts, no further action is required at this time.
- If you owe tax, we'll send you a bill called a Notice of Assessment. You may pay online at mass.gov/masstaxconnect before you receive the Notice of Assessment.
- If you disagree with the adjustment(s) to your original return and believe your original return was correct, you can respond online. Visit mass.gov/masstaxconnect, go to Quick Links, click on "Submit documentation" and enter the Letter ID from the upper right-hand corner of this notice. Then attach a statement explaining your position along with any supporting documentation.

What happens if I don't respond?

If you don't respond, we'll assume you agree with the information in this notice.

- If there is a balance due, you'll receive a Notice of Assessment. Additional interest and penalty charges will accrue until the total amount owed is paid.

Letter ID: L1569451296
Notice Date: July 14, 2023
Account ID: COR-19349724-004

- If no tax is owed, this notice will serve as your Notice of Assessment. Note that if an adjustment results in a small amount of tax due, we may waive the amount due and will not send a bill.
- If you have overpaid, you'll receive a refund if your refund request was timely and if no other tax or debts need to be collected.
